

Dear Sir or Madam,

we have some great news. Our onlineshop and the whole DESOI website shine in a new look. Not only optically there are some improvements, also technically we have brought our shop up to date. All products and information can now be found at a glance.

For many of the articles, extended information such as accessories, matching products, application pictures and technical data sheets have been added.

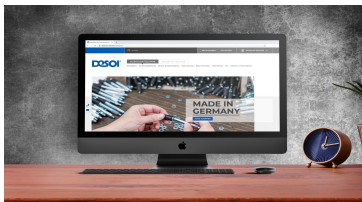

The ordering process has been simplified, the payment processing has been extended by several options and all receipts and invoices for your order are stored in your personal user account.

Register today! The first 100 orders will include a surprise package!

If you have any questions regarding your personal user account, orders or product information, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Have fun browsing, reading and ordering.
